Here are some tips for staying warm during a power outage:

When power goes out, staying warm becomes essential for safety and comfort. Here are some tips and tricks to help you stay warm during a power outage.

- Choose a room: Select a small, interior room with few windows to conserve heat. Close doors to unused rooms and block drafts with towels or blankets.
- Use blankets and sleeping bags: Cover windows at night, hang blankets or sleeping bags over windows, and use them indoors to stay warm.
- Layer your clothing: Wear multiple thin layers, keep hats and socks on indoors, and share space with others to stay warm.
- Eat warm foods: Your body generates heat by digesting, so eat high-calorie foods to stay warm.
- Stay dry: Change out of sweaty or damp clothes immediately to avoid rapid heat loss.
